

My second project was to improve the trigger performance of an M1 Carbine by applying what I learned on the Winchester 52. I was able to make the Carbine trigger more crisp with a lower pull weight.

